MOST POPULAR HUNTER PETS

The Rake, level 10 lion in Mulgore. This is the lowest level beast available with a 1.2 attack speed.

Snort the Heckler, level 17 (elite) hyena in the Barrens. Snort has an unusual purple color, and is reported to have higher than average stats (other than stamina) for hyenas of his level. - submitted by Vael

Takk the Leaper, level 19 (elite) raptor in the Barrens. Takk used to have a faster than average pursuit speed, but this was removed recently. He's now an ordinary raptor, but he does have an interesting color.

Mist Howler, level 22 wolf in Ashenvale. Mist Howler has a high attack speed of 1.3.

Humar the Pridelord, level 23 (elite) lion in the Barrens. Humar is popular for its 1.3 attack speed as well as its unique black coloring.

Lupos, level 23 (elite) wolf in Duskwood. Lupos is lovely white wolf/worg who used to inflict shadow damage when he attacked. This has recently been changed, so now he is an ordinary white worg.

Broken Tooth, level 37 (elite) cat in the Badlands. Broken Tooth has a 1.0 attack speed, the fastest of any pet, making him one of the most prized and popular pets in WoW.

King Bangalash, level 43 tiger in Stranglethorn Vale. King B used to retain his super fast running speed when tamed, but this has recently been standardized, so he's now the same as any other 1.4 cat. He's still a popular choice, however, for his unique white color.

Deathmaw, level 53 wolf in Burning Steppes. Deathmaw has a 1.2 attack speed, the fastest of any wolf.

Frostsaber Pridewatcher, Huntress, Stalker, level 58-60 tigers in Winterspring. The Pridewatchers are the pale purple and white striped tigers, and the Stalkers and Huntresses are pure white, like the epic Frostsaber mount. These cats have no special abilities, they just look cool. - thanks to Tilaris for this one

Sian-Rotam, level 60 cat in Winterspring. This beautiful white lion has a very slow attack speed (2.0), which makes him preferred by many players who want a big first attack when coming out of Prowl.
